Volume 6 no. 3

Focus for Spring 2026

As we begin the Spring 2026 semester, the SUNY CPD is placing a strong emphasis on two critical and rapidly evolving areas: artificial intelligence and accessibility. AI continues to shape the way we teach, learn, and support our campus communities, and building confidence, knowledge, and skill in this space is essential for all professionals across SUNY. At the same time, ensuring equitable digital experiences is more important than ever as we prepare for the implementation of new Title II ADA Standards, which bring significant updates to expectations for accessible digital content, tools, and communication.

To support campuses in navigating both AI and digital accessibility, the CPD has developed and curated a set of growing resource pages. These pages will be updated throughout the semester and are available directly from the CPD homepage. We invite you to explore:

- EIT Accessibility Resources – Guidance, tools, and best practices to help meet emerging accessibility requirements
- AI Resources – Foundational information, learning opportunities, and support for integrating AI effectively and responsibly
- Presentation Best Practices – Strategies for ensuring that your presentations are accessible to all audiences

We look forward to supporting you in building capacity, confidence, and community as we move into this new semester.

If you have resources to share in support of AI and Accessibility, please send to cpdinfo@suny.edu.

Nominations Open: Summer 2026 Leadership Program

SUNY Summer Leadership Retreat
August 3rd-7th, 2026
White Eagle Conference Center, Hamilton, NY

Now Accepting Nominations for the SUNY SAIL Summer Leadership Program. You may nominate yourself or someone else. Submit nominations before April 24th, 2026.

About the Program:

The summer program is a week-long retreat to enhance the leadership mindsets and skills of the participants, making them more effective leaders at their campuses and preparing them to take on more leadership responsibilities within SUNY in the future.

The week is devoted to the personal exploration of individual leadership, as well as gaining mastery in interpersonal, team, and collaborative dynamics. Throughout the week, participants are engaged in scholarly readings, thought provoking lectures, and challenging exercises, assessments, and case studies. Evening hours are devoted to fireside chats with senior leaders, coaching team feedback, team building and reflection. Participants leave with a professional development action plan and a new network of colleagues to assist them in continuing their growth.

Registration is open for the 2026 SUNY Online Summit!

Dear Colleagues:

You are invited to join colleagues from across the SUNY system and beyond at the 2026 SUNY Online Summit, February 23rd-27th, 2026! This year's event will be delivered virtually and free of charge.

The SUNY Online Summit is an annual SUNY-wide conference specifically focused on teaching and learning in the online modality. Over the past 25+ years, the Summit has evolved to address online learning in its entirety, including technology, student supports, administration of online programs, and instructional design. We welcome online faculty, administrators, instructional designers, technologists, concierges, faculty developers, researchers, students, and everyone who contributes to the success of online students. Anyone, including Friends of SUNY, are welcome!

Explore the Summit website for full conference details and registration information.

Register by February 16th, 2026 to receive access to the exclusive Summit Connect companion site in Brightspace where we will post all Summit session resources, supplemental materials, and continue the conversation in daily discussions. After February 16th, you'll still enjoy the conference sessions, but access to the companion site will not be available.

We look forward to learning together and connecting with you at this year's SUNY Online Summit!

Instructor Spotlight: Nikki Childrose

We're excited to shine a spotlight on Nikki Childrose, Professor of History and Founding Director of the Center for Innovation, Teaching, and Learning at Columbia-Greene Community College, and instructor for SUNY CPD's Assessment Leadership and Institutional Effectiveness Course 3: Championing Change: Applying Institutional Effectiveness on Your Campus.

Nikki's course supports campus leaders who are driving innovation and change grounded in assessment, backward design, and team building. Through practical, real-world cases, participants strengthen their leadership, networking, and innovative thinking in a supportive learning environment enriched by diverse professional perspectives.

"If you are open to applying your experiences, honestly and authentically immersing in the learning environment, and investing in your future growth as a professional, you will not be disappointed."

Reflecting on teaching, Nikki shares: "It is amazing to learn that although we may all serve really diverse institutions throughout SUNY and across the country (and even internationally), there is a similarity in the kinds of unique challenges we are experiencing—and together, we can rise to these challenges and imagine a very bright future for students, the communities we serve, and the mission of our institutions."

Thank you, Nikki, for your passion, energy, and dedication to advancing assessment leadership and institutional effectiveness across higher education.
