

Denise Burbey
CIO as a Service for Corning Community College
SUNY ITC

Denise Burbey joined SUNY Information Technology Exchange Center (ITEC) in the fall of 2021 where she is contracted to Corning Community College (CCC) as a CIO as a Service for 50% of her time. The remainder of her time she works with SUNY campuses to streamline their business processes through the use of Adobe's electronic signature platform. Denise provides leadership for Corning's technical and information security areas. She and her team work to break down the silos and forge partnerships across various departments to accomplish goals in support of the college's mission and strategic direction.

Prior to joining SUNY ITC and CCC, Denise worked at Jamestown Community College for 24 years in various roles including CIO for 13 years, the Director of Distance Learning, Training Coordinator and Project Manager for the Center for Continuing Education, and was an adjunct faculty member teaching online, hybrid, and in person courses.

Denise has been an active member of Chautauqua County's Leadership Network since 1999 serving as a program facilitator, presenter, board member, and chair of the strategic planning, curriculum, and financial stability committees. She earned her M.S. in Adult Education from Buffalo State College, a Teaching in the Virtual Classroom Graduate Certificate from Fielding Graduate University, and completed the Certified Lean Professional program through the University at Buffalo. She is currently a member of SUNY's Council of Chief Information Officers, is an Advisory Subcommittee member for SUNY's Digital Transformation Project, and a member of SUNY's Enterprise Architecture Working Group. She also is on the planning committees for the SUNY Technology Conference, the ITC Wizard Conference, and Corning's Women's Empowerment Conference.
